Reuland Food Service began as a cottage industry in the 1950’s with Paul and Charleen Reuland preparing food at their home on Aurora’s east side and serving it at parties for their family and friends. Today, you will find the second and third generation carrying on the family tradition. Their menu selections and service options have expanded greatly. This constant blending of innovative new tastes with familiar old favorites is one of their strongest assets and has made Reuland’s fresh for sixty years. The full-service catering option branched out to do even more, offering a wide variety of options from attractive freshly prepared box lunches to cocktail and dinner parties for any number of guests. Reuland Food Service stands out above the rest because of their ability to cater to large and small groups with the same consistent, reliable service and attention to detail.
